Thirty minutes isn't so much to give

Do you like numbers, facts and figures?

I did some research courtesy of the Internet and found some you might like to know.

Are you ready?

There were 10,623 Continental Army Soldiers killed in the American Revolutionary War; The War of 1812 claimed 6,765 Americans; 13,283 Americans died in the Mexican War; 359,528 federal Soldiers died in the Civil War preserving the Union; 2,446 Americans died in the Spanish-American War; World War I saw 116,708 Americans killed; World War II took 407,316 American lives; 33,651 Americans died in the Korean War; 58,438 Americans were killed in Vietnam; 293 Americans died in the Gulf War and more than 2,500 Americans have died in Afghanistan and Iraq so far.

If those are added up, that's 1,011,571 American military members who have died for freedom.

And that's just the 'major' wars America has fought, although I guess any war is major to the ones who are fighting and dying in it.

There's another number that should be noted. That's the 30 minutes it will take to hold the Memorial Day ceremony starting at 9 a.m., Monday, at the flag poles.

There are many things to do on a day off. Diving, fishing, picnics and going to the beach or pool. I hope that quite a few folks can also find time to attend the ceremony this year, especially since many of our young and not-so-young men and women are giving their all right now in

Letters to the editor

Honor Society thanks community for support

We, the students of the National Honor Society and National Junior Honor Society, would like to say thank you for all your support during this past year.

Through your generous gifts of money and time, we were able to present four Ebeye schools with educational supplies and sports equipment at Christmastime, send a $2,000 gift (proceeds from our variety show) to Salmen High School in Slidell, La., in support of the Hurricane Katrina clean-up and raise $1,500 for next year's Christmas project.

Thank you for allowing us opportunities where we can learn to give service to others.

George Seitz PTO thanks more than 130 volunteers

George Seitz Elementary PTO would like to express our appreciation for this year's record number of volunteers (130+).

It is estimated these parents and community members have spent more than 10,000 man hours helping provide an excellent education for our children. Wow! I'd say that is a huge thumbs up! Wouldn't you?

The chairperson of the "Volunteer Appreciation" committee, Cassie Rubly Shields, organized an appreciation banquet, in addition to procuring and preparing beach bags for the volunteers. Each bag was filled with lots of items that were either donated by individuals or purchased by the PTO.

Because we think our volunteers are so extraordinary, we'd like to give them their due. So please look over the following list and be sure to thank anyone you recognize

Suspicious bags cause alerts

Kwajalein police, fire department, Explosive Ordnance Disposal respond to separate incidents on Tuesday

By Nell M. Drumheller
Editor

Tuesday was a busy day for first responders on Kwajalein.

At 7:30 a.m. two unattended bags were spotted in front of Macy's bachelor quarters and brought to the attention of Kwajalein Police Department's Lt. Mike Bucher. One was a small one-pouch black canvas bag with strap similar to that of a military-issue ammunition bandoleer, it was sitting next to a white box with postage markings.

"K-9 units were called and one of the explosive detection dogs alerted on the black canvas bag on three separate sweeps," Capt. Jeff Mullin, KPD deputy chief said.

Bucher took the next step and called for back-up. All available nor could it be dragged effectively from its location. "The decision was made to shoot the IED in place, and upon ensuring all personnel were under cover, EOD shot the bag which proved to contain no explosive devices," Mullin said. The box was opened by manipulating the robot arm, and with lights and camera mounted on the robot, it was determined to contain only a folded grocery bag. The scene was declared safe at 9:30 a.m.

The second package, the white box, was traced to an island resident. He was interviewed, "this individual was not cited since his rendition of how the box arrived at Macy's from the trash at his quarters is plausible," Mullins said.

EOD, KPD and KFD were back in action four hours later when a the name belong to anyone transiting the atoll according to records of manifests. And there was no address on the label, only a name."

EOD determined to not shoot the package in the post office, and the package was too big to move by robot and too large to scan the contents with the portable X-Ray. EOD Bomb Technician Scott Phillips donned the bomb suit and carried the package to the EOD truck where it was transported to the airfield hotspot and opened remotely. "The contents revealed no explosive devices. All items are retained as evidence to determine how a package bearing no address can travel the distance it did without alarming responsible personnel," Mullin said.

The scene cleared by 3:54 p.m.

"Both situations are the results of alert community members who took the proper precautions and alerted police to the existence of suspicious packages. Although both situations proved negative for explosive devices, our community members are the all important key in combating terrorism."

— Capt. Jeff Mullin, Kwajalein Police Department deputy chief

KPD units arrived within minutes and established a 300-foot cordon. Mullin said Macy's BQ was evacuated by pulling the fire alarm as approved by the Kwajalein Fire Department. Police officers then made an eyes-on sweep of the building, stores and passersby, ensuring the cordoned-off area was clear.

"EOD [Explosive Ordnance Disposal] responded quickly and a plan was established to utilize the EOD robot to drag or carry the potential IED [improvised explosive device] from the front of Macy's BQ to a clear area oceanside and adjacent to the Ocean View Club where the bag would be shot by the robot's disruptor cannon," Mullin said. Upon arrival at the bag, the robot was unable to secure it because the carrying strap was not continuous, worker at the post office reported a suspicious looking package. It was 24 inches by 12 inches by 12 inches with only a name and no proper address or return address. It was wrapped in duct tape and showing what appeared to be oil stains consistent with FBI/postal alerts matching what may constitute an IED, according to Mullins.

Once again KPD established a cordon and evacuated the area out to 300 feet. "Postal employees who were interviewed related that the package originated in San Francisco and had been through Hickam Air Force Base before being handled by postal employees here," Mullin said.

"A visual inspection of the package revealed a name not related to anyone assigned on island, nor did

Approximately 20-25 personnel were involved in the two incidents.

Mullin said the likelihood of two such similar events in one day was "very unusual, but then again when it rains, it pours." He added that KPD, KFD and EOD are trained and prepared to respond to these calls. "We're improving upon our response times and procedures with every incident," Mullin said.

"Both situations are the results of alert community members who took the proper precautions and alerted police to the existence of suspicious packages. Although both situations proved negative for explosive devices, our community members are the all-important key in combating terrorism: "Vigilance and Teamwork," Mullin said.

Live fire

Marines conduct Stinger missile target shooting training on Meck

By Nell M. Drumheller

They came, they trained and they left.

Sixty Marines spent two days firing Stinger missiles at one-fifth scale radio-controlled aerial targets on Meck.

"Live fire training is vitally important," said Maj. Gen. George J. Trautman, III, commanding general for the 1st Marine Aircraft Wing, Iwakuni, Japan, on Meck Thursday. This was Trautman's first in-person viewing of Stinger live fire.

The Marines, from the 1st Stinger Battery out of Okinawa, don't often have the opportunity to train live. Typically they train in simulators. To maintain their qualifications, they must shoot live once every three years, according to Battery Commander Maj. Matt Culbertson.

This is the first time the Marines have traveled to Kwajalein for this training. "It is a first-time event for RTS [Reagan Test Site], but the Marines do it on a regular basis. Last year it was done on Wake," Capt. Eric J. Everts, U.S. Army Kwajalein Atoll, ICBM test director, said. "This unit is a Stinger Battery and their wartime job is to shoot down enemy aircraft," the captain said.

Over the course of two days' training they fired 48 surface-to-air Stinger missiles.

While most of the Low Altitude Defense gunners, or Stinger gunners, agreed that live training tops simulator training. Cpl. Dennison Muczynski summed it up, "It's the adrenaline rush." He said training in an air-conditioned simulator is not the same as training in the elements.

Training live builds confidence according to Lance Cpl. Michael Mariana, a Marine of three years from Ohio and a Stinger gunner. "You build confidence in your system, your team, battery and leadership."

What does the Marine training mean to the USAKA community? During Lt. Gen. Larry J. Dodgen, U.S. Army Space and Missile Defense commanding general's last visit to Kwajalein, he indicated that joint-service use of the USAKA/RTS facilities was vital.

"My mission for Master Sgt. Frank Cota upon his arrival earlier this year as the Senior Range NCO [noncommissioned officer] was to be creative and find customers who might be able to use our range," USAKA/RTS Commander COL Beverly Stipe said. She added that service orientation (Air Force, Navy, Marines), did not matter in her request of Cota, as long as high quality testing or training environment could be assured.

Stipe continued, "Well, it didn't take Master Sgt. Cota long before he was briefing me on Marines from Okinawa who needed a place to collect cursory data on their inventory of Stingers without the encumbrance of political or population sensitivities.

Together, Cota, Everts, Billy Traweek, [Kwajalein Range Services Range Safety] and others sorted through the obstacles to firing from Meck Island, assisted the Marines in establishing a solid firing table, and built the logistics timeline that put the Marines 'on the beach' this week," Stipe said.

She added that having Trautman join his Marines for several of the firings was inspirational. "I am extremely pleased with the professionalism that went into the planning, and I am very happy with the level of support RTS and KRS provided to ensure the trip here and the firings went so well. My congratulations for a job very well done," she said.

Two Marines visited USAKA in March on a site survey. "Meck was the best place at RTS that met their mission requirements. Cost, scheduling and other conflicts brought them to RTS," Everts said.

The young gunners agreed that anytime there was an opportunity to train it should be used. The training on Meck provided both day and night live fires. On Thursday, prior to the second day of live fire, Culbertson told his Marines, "Even if we don't fire another missile this has been a success." On Wednesday the Marines hit 100 percent of the targets. On Thursday there were a couple of misses, but according to Trautman they were technical kills since they narrowly missed the small target and if the target had been a scale aircraft it would have been a hit.

Trautman met with most of the Marines one-on-one, while learning about each of their responsibilities during the training. He reiterated the importance of the live fire training and the ideal circumstances on Meck.

Muczynski said the Marines appreciated the opportunity to come to the Republic of the Marshall Islands, "Just coming over to see this," he said, indicating the island. He added that part of the pre-deployment preparation was briefing the Marines on where they were going and on the historical importance of the Marshall Islands to the United States and the Marine Corps. He said that many of the Marines in the 1st Stinger Battery were from small towns across America and the opportunity for them to visit Kwajalein and Meck was once in a lifetime.

Identity information for millions of veterans compromised by data theft

Dept. of Veterans Affairs release

The Department of Veterans Affairs has learned that an employee, a data analyst, took home electronic data from the VA, which he was not authorized to do. This behavior was in violation of VA policies. This data contained identifying information including names, social security numbers, and dates of birth for up to 26.5 million veterans and some spouses, as well as some disability ratings. Importantly, the affected data did not include any of VA's electronic health records nor any financial information. The employee's home was burglarized and this data was stolen. The employee has been placed on administrative leave pending the outcome of an investigation.

Appropriate law enforcement agencies, including the FBI and the VA Inspector General's office, have launched full-scale investigations into this matter. Authorities believe it is unlikely the perpetrators targeted the items because of any knowledge of the data contents. It is possible that they remain unaware of the information which they possess or of how to make use of it. However, out of an abundance of caution, the

The VA is working with members of Congress, the news media, veterans' service organizations, and other government agencies to help ensure that veterans and their families are aware of the situation.

VA is taking all possible steps to protect and inform our veterans.

The VA is working with members of Congress, the news media, veterans' service organizations, and other government agencies to help ensure that veterans and their families are aware of the situation and of the steps they may take to protect themselves from misuse of their personal information. The VA will send out individual notification letters to veterans to every extent possible. Additionally, working with other government agencies, the VA has set up a manned call center that veterans may call to get information about this situation and learn more about consumer identity protections. That toll free number is 1-800-FED INFO (1-800-333-4636). The call center will operate from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. EDT, Monday-Saturday as long as it is needed.

Here are some questions you may have about this incident, and their answers.

I'm a veteran. How can I tell if my information was compromised?

At this point there is no evidence that any missing data has been used illegally. However, the VA is asking all veterans to be extra vigilant and to carefully monitor bank statements, credit card statements and any statements relating to recent financial transactions. If you notice unusual or suspicious activity, you should report it immediately to the financial institution involved and contact the Federal Trade Commission for further guidance.

What is the earliest date suspicious activity might have occurred due to this data breach?

The information was stolen from an employee of the VA in May. If the data has been misused or otherwise used to commit fraud or identity theft crimes, it is likely that veterans may notice suspicious activity during May.

I haven't noticed any suspicious activity in my financial statements, but what can I do to protect myself and prevent being victimized by credit card fraud or identity theft?

The VA strongly recommends that veterans closely monitor their financial statements and review the guidelines provided on this webpage or call 1-800-FED-INFO (1-800-333-4636).

Should I reach out to my financial institutions or will the VA do this for me?

The VA does not believe that it is necessary to contact financial institutions or cancel credit cards and bank accounts, unless you detect suspicious activity.

Where should I report suspicious or unusual activity?

The FTC recommends the following four steps if you detect suspicious activity:

Step 1 – Contact the fraud department of one of the three major credit bureaus:

- Equifax: 1-800-525-6285; www.equifax.com; P.O. Box 740241, Atlanta, GA 30374-0241

- Experian: 1-888-EXPERIAN (397-3742); www.experian.com; P.O. Box 9532, Allen, Texas 75013

- TransUnion: 1-800-680-7289; www.transunion.com; Fraud Victim Assistance Division, P.O. Box 6790, Fullerton, CA 92834-6790

Step 2 – Close any accounts that have been tampered with or opened fraudulently.

Step 3 – File a police report with your local police or the police in the community where the identity theft took place.

Step 4 – File a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission by using the FTC's Identity Theft Hotline by telephone: 1-877-438-4338, online at www.consumer.gov/idtheft, or by mail at Identity Theft Clearinghouse, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington DC 20580.

I know the VA maintains my health records electronically; was this information also compromised?

No electronic medical records were compromised. The data lost is primarily limited to an individual's name, date of birth, social security number, in some cases their spouse's information, as well as some disability ratings. However, this information could still be of potential use to identity thieves and we recommend that all veterans be extra vigilant in monitoring for signs of potential identity theft or misuse of this information.

What is the VA doing to ensure that this does not happen again?

The VA is working with the President's Identity Theft Task Force, the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission to investigate this data breach and to develop safeguards against similar incidents. The VA has directed all VA employees complete the "VA Cyber Security Awareness Training Course" and complete the separate "General Employee Privacy Awareness Course" by June 30. In addition, the VA will immediately be conducting an inventory and review of all current positions requiring access to sensitive VA data and require all employees requiring access to sensitive VA data to undergo an updated National Agency Check and Inquiries and/or a Minimum Background Investigation depending on the level of access required by the Where can I get further, up-to-date information?

The VA has a special Web site and a toll-free telephone number for veterans that features up-to-date news and information.

Please check this Web page for further updates or call 1-800-FED-INFO (1-800-333-4636).

Grandma's Boy. Alex (Allen Covert) is a 35-year-old video-game fanatic who gave up a career in accounting to take a job testing games for Brainasium, the company behind the wildly popular game "Eternal Death Slayer." While Alex took a big pay cut to land his dream job, he's happy with his work and is making ends meet — until he discovers that his roommate hasn't paid the rent for the last six months, using the money to finance repeated visits to a local massage parlor. After running out of friends who will let him sleep on their couch, Alex swallows his pride and moves in with his grandma Lily.

Eight Below. Eight brave sled dogs search for the master who is looking for a way to rescue them in this adventure drama. An American geologist (Bruce Greenwood) flies to Antarctica to participate in a project at the United States Research Base, where he teams up with arctic guide Jerry Shepard (Paul Walker) and his best friend, Cooper (Jason Biggs). The scientist soon discovers that Shepard also has eight other valuable friends — a pack of sled dogs he's worked with for years, who have rescued him from a number of tight spots.

Date Movie. The glorious Hollywood institution of the romantic comedy gets raked over the coals in this broad parody of any number of boy-meets-girl flicks. Julia Jones (Alyson Hannigan) is a young woman who wants nothing more than to find the man of her dreams and settle down. However, Julia has a rather serious weight problem that prevents her from making a positive impression on people. Determined to find love at all costs, Julia somehow drops the weight and meets Grant Fonkyerdoder (Adam Campbell), a handsome and charming Englishman who falls head over heels for her. Julia and Grant waste no time in setting the date, but until they make their way to the altar they have to deal with meddling parents, flaky wedding planners, fights over the right wedding dress, vertically challenged romantic advisors, and Andy (Sophie Monk), a longtime friend of Grant, who isn't so happy to hear he's getting hitched.

Water outage

A twelve-hour potable-water outage is scheduled to start at 8 p.m., June 3 and end at 8 a.m., June 4. The affected buildings include 703 (Café Pacific and Bakery), 704 ((Macy's, SnackBar, UPH), 706 (Post Office), 712 (Mini-Mall), 721 (Chiller Building), and 728 (Boiler Plant). Every effort will be made to reduce the length of the outage and restore water pressure as soon as possible. Call Stan Jazwinski at 51847 or Hilton Crutchfield at 59081, for more information.

Dining Services notice due to water outage

Dining services will be limited during the weekend of June 3-5 due to replacement and repair of potable water mains to dining facilities. The water line work is a part of preparations for the upcoming demolition of the Pacific Bachelor Quarters. After the replacement/repair of the pipe is completed, dining facilities will not be able to resume full normal operations until tests confirm that there is no problem with use of the water. The combined effect of pipe work and water testing will result in up to 36 hours of limited water availability in dining facilities beginning the evening of June 3. Dining services personnel have worked with the chief medical officer and sanitarian to develop an interim operational plan that continues to provide basic food service while assuring that there is zero risk to customers. Clearance for return to normal operations is expected by early June 5. Specific changes for dining facilities are:

Cafe Pacific :

- Meal service will be limited to unaccompanied personnel all day June 4, and for breakfast on June 5.
- Continental breakfast for June 4 and June 5.
- Box lunches for brunch on June 4.
- Limited hot menu for dinner on June 4.
- Return to normal services for June 5.

Three Palms Snack Bar:

- Early 7 p.m. closure on June 3.
- Closed all day June 4.
- Return to normal services on June 5 morning.

Bakery:

- Usual hours of operation
- Limited pastries on June 4 and 5.
- For June 4 espresso will not be available but other drinks will be available as usual
- Return to normal services for June 5 lunch.

Dining Services and CMO will update the public about any changes or extension to these limitations via roller announcements in the unlikely event that plans change.

Upon receiving his commission, Ensign Long will report to Norfolk, Va., where he will join the crew of USS Elrod.

Long plans to attend Explosive Ordnance Disposal school after his Surface Warfare qualification.

Long is the son of Ernie and Karla Long of Kwajalein.

Iraq and Afghanistan.

I've been on Kwajalein for almost 14 years and I have to admit, I haven't always made it to the ceremony on Memorial Day, although I've made most of them. It looks like I'll miss it this year because I'll be working at a part-time job. So please don't think I'm preaching. In fact, I'm hoping someone takes up the slack for me and attends.

Wouldn't it be nice to have a big crowd there to say thank you to all the Americans who have made the ultimate sacrifice for the preservation of freedom around the world?

Thirty minutes isn't really too much to give to those who gave their all.
